TIE ITSIN REFUGEES

REACH SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 8.—Forty-two refugees from Tien-tsin were landed yesterday from the transport Logan, which arrived at midnight on Sunday from Taku and Nagasaki. The passengers were some of the women and children and a few male non-combatants who were compelled to leave the beleaguered city for their own safety. They tell graphic stories of the siege and the pathetic incidents. Nearly all left behind relatives who are still waging war against the Chinese. The men compelled their women and children to leave, fearing the awful fate that awaited them should they fall into the hands of the Boxers or imperial troops.

Mrs. Edward B. Drew of Boston, whose husband is Commissioner of Customs at Tien-tsin, gives a vivid picture of the atrocities practiced by Russian troops on innocent Chinese. Dr. Dindorfer, who participated to some extent in the fighting, sharply criticizes the missionaries, whom he blames for all the trouble. Dainty Effie Ragdale, the thirteen-year-old daughter of the American Consul at Tien-tsin, and her brother Earl tell in a quaint manner the thrilling story of the siege; and M. A. Montelle of this city adds a number of incidents of interest. Miss Laura Jones, a young missionary, had a remarkable escape from the Boxers in their own country, and the story of Mrs. Lowry, with her three tiny children, is full of pathos. Every passenger has something of interest to tell.

The Logan took the Ninth Infantry to Taku from Manila—the soldiers who made the gallant stand in the open before the walled city. They were without protection from the fire of the forts and the leaden hail of Mauser bullets and Colonel Liscum was one of the first to fall. Sixty-one of the regiment were brought back sick without having had a chance to fight. There were besides, sixteen marines and four prisoners. By order of Admiral Remy the transport took on board at Taku all fugitives, irrespective of nationality, and gained for the United States the applause of the world.

A Singular Coincidence.

Hicks—They have said that Bertou is a man of peculiar views, but it seems that he can think the same as others.

Wicks—Possibly. What led you to that conclusion?

Hicks—When I met him today he said he supposed I hadn't a dollar I wanted to spare, and—really, it was quite a coincidence—I supposed so, too.

A Spanish General's Kindness.

During the period of his imprisonment by the Filipinos, Lieutenant Gilmore and his men were at one time thrown into an old barrack with a party of Spanish prisoners, including a Major General. The latter in some way obtained money, which he divided among his men, and with great generosity sent fifty Mexican dollars to Lieutenant Gilmore, asking him to accept them with his compliments. Gilmore made the condition that it should be considered a loan, to which the Spanish General graciously assented and he used the money to buy shoes and clothing for his men, something they sadly needed, for they were almost naked.

After his rescue Gilmore learned that the Spanish General, who had also escaped from the Filipinos, was in the city of Manila, and he offered him fifty silver dollars as repayment of the loan. The General was quite indignant, and refused to accept it. When Gilmore reminded him of the agreement he smiled and said that he had consented to it only because he feared the Americans would not accept the money otherwise. Gilmore told the story among the other naval officers at Manila, who passed around a paper and collected a handsome sum, which was expended in the purchase of the most appropriate and expensive piece of silver that could be found in Manila. It was engraved with a brief statement of the case and presented to the Spanish General with appropriate ceremonies, as a token of gratitude and admiration from the navy of the United States. Then he was invited to a reception upon the flagship, where every officer of the fleet who could be spared welcomed him and thanked him in person for his kindness to Gilmore and his men. KILLING OF LORBER AND HOPE OF AVERY.

♦ The grand jury yesterday ♦ morning investigated the case ♦ of Samuel Barney, charged with ♦ the killing of John Lorber on ♦ Sunday.

♦ In the afternoon it was at ♦ work on the Avery case. Avery ♦ was the man arrested on the ♦ Australia on the eve of her departure for San Francisco, on a ♦ charge of embezzlement, on a ♦ warrant sworn out by W. C. ♦ King. The case was heard in ♦ the police court and Avery was ♦ honorably acquitted of the ♦ charge.

♦ Subsequently Avery brought ♦ action in the United States District Court for $5,000.

♦ A large number of witnesses ♦ were subpoenaed to give evidence in the Avery case. Prominent business men and women ♦—for Miss Killian was there—♦ restlessly paced the corridors, ♦ waiting to be called.

Black House For Sale.

Lovers of Dickens should be interested to learn that the famous Black House, Broadstairs, is for sale, the price asked being $15,000.—So far no purchaser has come forward, the reason alleged for this being that the house is in a bad state of repair and would require a considerable sum to make it habitable. Failing a private purchaser, it is suggested that the house should be acquired as a Dickens memorial and museum.

Oh, Woman, Gentle Woman.

Here are a few facts gleaned from a single issue of the newspapers by the Philadelphia Enquirer:

One hundred and forty girl students at Wellesley College bind and gag twenty-five other female students, then burn with paint and leave them in the woods at night.

The Elmhurst College Athletic Association, composed exclusively of girls, made the following records in their annual sports: Standing broad jump, 7 feet 8 inches; fifty yard hurdle race, 0:01 1/5 seconds; baseball throwing, 132 feet 3 inches; running broad jump, 11 feet one inch; 100-yard dash, 0:14 1/2 seconds; one-third of a mile walk, 5:00 1/2 minutes.

Jessie Gibney, of Jersey City, grabbed a thief by the collar and wrestled a round the room with him screaming for help, and thus effected his capture.

In St. Louis several women were attacked by various mobs of women. The clothing of those attacked were torn from their backs, and the victims chased in semi-nude through the streets of the town. A mob of women also publicly spanked three young women school teachers.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs adjourned after trying to heal the many wounds engendered by the meeting, and without being able to prevent the race question becoming a matter for the courts.

The Honolulu Republican will be delivered to any part of the city for 75¢ per month or $2 per quarter.

It Saved His Baby.

"My baby was terribly sick with the diarrhoea, we were unable to cure him with the doctor's assistance, and as a last resort we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mr. J. H. Deak, of Williams, Or. "I am happy to say it gave immediate relief and a complete cure." For sale by all dealers and druggists. Benson, Smith & Co., general agents, Honolulu Territory.
